Recent Operations

By Paul Rardin

My 1940 Christmas vacation will come to an end Saturday—Mrs. Rardin is returning to Canal Point from a vacation spent with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Strickland in Glenview, Georgia.

How time flies! Here we are printing the last January issue in this new year 1941. Before we know it we'll be knocking off for the day to celebrate the Fourth of July.

Farmers in the Canal Point-Pahokee sector will learn soon or later that they want rarer beans than to plant something besides beans—that is if they want to continue to have a hand in this Lake Okechobee Farming operation.

At a late hour Thursday night—when this was written—the Vann-Rice murder case remained undecided. Sheriff Jack Baker and his deputies were still running down every dog in the yard in an effort to apprehend the guilty person—or persons.

Again this week the price of beans went up around the $3.00 mark. But, who would have beans? The way it goes here is that beans and a low market. A few beans available and a high market.

I am wondering what ever happened to this cattle raising business we read so much about in the columns of this paper for many years or so ago? Was it just one of those flash in the pan things that came into its own and then disappeared?

Honor Court Held Monday Nite

The Glades district of the Gulf Stream Boy Scout Council held its regular monthly Honor Court Monday evening in Palm Bay, at the Methodist church, at which time Reid Collins, a member of the Belle Glade Boy Scout Troop 22, made application for an Eagle Award.

The Eagle award is a coveted trophy in scouting and has been receiving twenty-one merit badges in scouting, with certain ones required; and after serving specified time in the different ranks of scout.

Only three scouts in the Glades division have earned this honor. Reid Collins is the first member of the Belle Glade Group to apply for an Eagle Award.

L. L. Lapp of Canal Point, chairman of advancement, presided at the court. Merit badge awards were received by Edward Smith, Canal Point, first aid; Monroe Pope, Canal Point, camping; Roy Pope, Canal Point, pathfinding; Dick Borden, Canal Point, knot-tying; Billy Eggleston, Belle Glade, first aid and pathfinding; Jeff Fowler and Billy DeLoach, Canal Point, first aid.

H. L. Lapp made an inspirational talk on the value of the merit badge work in scouting to the boy in developing a worthy citizen. He stressed the point that it was not the number of badges and ornaments to wear but the value received in delving into these different fields and the knowledge and fellowship with the various counselors that was of greatest value to the boy in future in molding a good citizen.

Edwards, assistant scoutmaster of West Palm Beach, two motion pictures were shown in Washington, D. C. The four-months attendance certificate which attests to the Belle Glade led with 18 points followed by Canal Point with 15, and Pahokee third with 12. This contest is based on attendance at honor court by scouts, parents and friends, and awards and advancement work. The contest is a recommendation made at the last court is based on the number of reviews he held in advance of the court and the number of reviews he made in the course of honor. This move was made to shorten the court sessions and allow more time for special programs.

Many Varieties Of Vegetables Find The Way To Markets

Beans Are Scarce And Prices Are Good, As Usual

About the only activity in the produce movement from the Glades the past week was in celery, cabbage and potatoes in the open market. Five carloads of beans, five mixed and one escarole completed the 161 car program.

Buyers were out over the fields like a mess of grasshoppers seeking out produce to meet order demands, and they picked up quantities of fair to middling quality. Truckers also got a considerable proportion of the truck available at the packing houses, and prices were fair to good.

Fred Hickerson, commission merchant, at Canal Point, on Monday, had one good shipment of beans of 300 hamper, which brought $3.10 a hamper. Mr. Hickerson stated that the highest price paid for beans in the Glades this season. Pumpkins dealers have had here and there, ranging around $4.00 for the best of quality beans.

Cabbage took a slump over last week. High price and is now selling at $2.50 a field ton. Other prices: white, $2.50; yellow, $3 and up, and those who have the yellow, are in closer to the market.

Celery packers are busy at all the Belle Glade plants, and growers are busy in the fields. Chosen, South Bay are carting in their crops to the packing centers.

Many farmers have been intensively busy since the heavy rain, have made plantings of beans and English peas for the spring crop, and many fields are now showing up green.

Packers estimate that there will be plenty of beans in the market. Many farmers are still planting cabbage and tomatoes in an endeavor to recoup some of the losses from the heavy rain. The Glades Group to apply for an Eagle Award.

Hector Succeeds Brooks Bateman

Governor Spessard Holland, last week, accepted the resignation of Brooks Bateman, of Pahokee, a member of the state Highway Board. The Governor named Harry Hector, of Miami, to be the new commissioner from the Fourth congressional district.

Pahokee has had two men on the board in the persons of William Buchanan, Governor of the 16th district, and Harry Hector, the new member, while a resident of Miami, is as well known in the Glades as he is in his own city for he has operated units of his business in Palm Beach county towns for a number of years past.

Working with the state highway board, which called a public meeting for the Belle Glade City hall on the morning of February 6th, at which time Hector was elected to the highway board, he was one of the four canal systems of the Glades. Both oral and written testimony was received from the study, prior to a final determination of the granting of rejection of the project.

Lawmakers are specially interested in the cleaning out, deepening and improving of the Hillsboro and Miami canals, which are main drainage outlets for the territory through which they run.

The conservation department forces, which have much work in surveys and plans, will not doubt have considerable influence on the improvement of the canals and the drainage of the farm sections. Broward county farmers are working with the state highway board, which called a public meeting for the Belle Glade City hall on the morning of February 6th, at which time Hector was elected to the highway board, he was one of the four canal systems of the Glades. The hull in farm work and trucking has given many of the local fishermen a chance to enjoy their sport on their fishing, and on favorable days, many boats are to be found on the Lake Okechobee.

Cae, Sr., in talking about fishing, remarked that fishing had been in his blood since he was a kid, and finds great pleasure and sport in wrangling with the Okechobee bass, and that he could fish every day, and still be unhappy because there were not more days in a week to follow his sport.

A decision by the Supreme court of Florida, this week, upholds the trespass law of the state. Judge Alva Adams, the new member of the tribunal, handed down the important decision in the case which had been appealed from the Oklawaha County Courts.

Judge Adams held that a hunter license does not void the holder with any title to game and fish, nor does it grant him any property rights superior to the rights of the owner. That Constitution, makes property rights secure to the owner of large or small tracts, and such owners also have the exclusive right to hunt and fish on their property, if fenced and posted according to law. This means that hunters as fishermen cannot go promiscuously on any property they might see fit to visit for their hunting and fishing activities if the lands are fenced or posted with "no trespass" signs. To do so is a violation of the Florida laws.

Ask Ickes Permit To Kill More Deer

A delegation of Florida state officials, headed by Secretary Nat May, were in Washington this week in conference with Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes. They want the secretary to give the state the right to enter the Seminoles Indian reservation in Collier county to kill off the alleged risky deer.

A year ago this privilege was denied the Conservation Commission, when the Seminoles put on the plea that they needed the deer for their sustenance. The Federal Department then not only denied the killing of the deer, but thoroughly posted the reservation from trespass. Hunters could not get permit to cross the reservations to get to the hunting grounds in the Big Cypress swamps, where they had previously hunted.

Hunters in the Glades section are hoping that the ban will still be maintained by the Interior Department.

It's late at night. You're quietly reading. And suddenly a "queer" line jumps out at you from the printed page.

Chances are your eyes are playing tricks on you. It's not their fault, however. They've been working hard for you all evening—perhaps in a dim light, or under harsh, raw, glaring light. Those eyes of yours are tired!

Modern light is mellow, glareless, and helps reduce dangerous eyestrain. Try a modern I. E. S. lamp and notice the difference. Or install inexpensive modernizing equipment for as little as $2.75 per room. After all, sight is priceless and good light is cheap.

Discusses Airport

Palm Beach County Commissioners, on Monday, held a conference with Col. W. C. Weeks, of Jacksonville, in reference to Wright field air port matters.

The Army desires to make a revised contract for the flying field, but some of the provisions of the new document are not favored by the Commissioners.

The Commissioners are not willing to provide utility provisions for the port, nor the providing of an additional 10-20 acre tract for the radio control station, and wants the Government to put up the cash, amounting to $20,000, for the building of the railway spur to the camp, the county to pay it back out of budget funds over a two year period.

Wants Laboratory
To Study Vegetables

Congressman J. H. Peterson of the First Florida Congressional district, is working to get a set up and appropriation of $10,000 for the erection of an experimental plant laboratory at Bradenton, which would specialize in research work on celery and lettuce and other root plants. He cites that it would be of great value to the growers of these products, who have been going on a hit and miss plan. He also points out that the results of plant experimentation will be of special importance to the new celery and lettuce centers of the Everglades, where in the future, the bulk of the celery and lettuce of Florida is bound to be propagated.
